

PUBLIC HEALTH RESERVE CORPS VOLUNTEER TODAY!

The California Department of Public Health (CDPH) is seeking state employee volunteers to serve on trained strike teams to provide emergency response support in case of a state of emergency in the State of California that poses a risk to public health.

Public Health Reserve Corps (PHRC) Strike Team members will be responsible for performing contact tracing/case investigation duties in alignment with CDPH and the assigned Local Health Jurisdiction (LHJ) procedures.

For subsequent public health emergencies, PHRC Strike Team members will be responsible for independently providing support to the operations of the specific public health emergency.

Available Assignments/Deployments

- A PHRC Supervisor must be a Staff Services Manager I (or equivalent in duties and pay) or above.
- A PHRC Analyst must be a Staff Services Analyst (or equivalent in duties and pay) or above.
- Deployments will not exceed two (2) assignments of ninety (90) calendar days within a twelve (12)-month period.
- Assignments will be performed remotely and will match the volunteer's work schedule as assigned by the home department.

Volunteer Essentials

- Must be available for virtual deployment for up to ninety (90) calendar days.
- Able to deploy within seven (7) calendar days of written notice.

Desirable Qualifications of Volunteers

- Previously deployed to the California Contact Tracing Program.
- Bilingual certification (must be formally certified).

CDPH Responsibilities

- Provide all training, instruction, and direction of the PHRC.
- Obtain department approval for volunteer participation and enter into an interagency agreement with departments for all volunteers.
- Provide all supervision of volunteers during PHRC deployment and training, and communicate with the home department regularly.